

COURT DENIES HAUPTMANN'S APPLICATION

Bronx Carpenter To Die In Chair Next
Friday Night

Statehouse, Trenton, N. J., Jan. 11.—(P)—The state court of pardons decided tonight that Bruno Richard Hauptmann must die for the Lindbergh baby murder.

After an all day session the court issued a terse announcement that Hauptmann's application for clemency "was today denied."

The decision ended all but the most forlorn of hopes for the Bronx carpenter to escape the electric chair next Friday night.

His only hope now lies either with Governor Harold C. Hoffman, or the courts, and both hopes are desperate ones.

The governor might delay the execution by a reprieve of not more than 90 days—but even this power is doubted both by the governor and the attorney general.

Governor Hoffman would make no comment tonight either concerning the possibility of a reprieve or the action taken by the court.

Hauptmann's chance for further delay through the courts lay in three directions: a habeas corpus action in federal court, an appeal for a new trial to Justice Thomas W. Trenchard, the aged jurist who sat on the bench during the Flemington trial at which Hauptmann was convicted; or a new request to the United States supreme court to review the proceedings. This was rejected once.

As soon as the court's decision was announced, Lloyd Fisher, of defense counsel, started for the state prison to break the news to Hauptmann.

The defense attitude was best voiced by the prisoner's wife, who said: "I don't know anything about law, but I realize there can't be much left to fight with now; but we will go on to the end of the road."

Average Citizen Liable to Fines Totalling $3,938

City Attorney Finds 30,000
Laws Exist to Kentucky Residents

Covington, Ky., Jan. 11.—(P)—Mr. Average Citizen put in an "average day" today and so became liable to fines totalling from $681 to $3,938, court costs of $310, and imprisonment aggregating 725 days, estimated Richard Carren, city attorney of nearby Louisville.

Carren, asserting more than 30,000 laws exist to "regulate what we shall and shall not do in this great democracy," cited a few, and said the "average citizen" is "blissfully ignorant that in the course of the usual day, he breaks a score or more of them."

Mr. Average Citizen, Carren said, probably opened his door to admit a stray pup. Technically, he "did harbor an unlicensed dog," and could be fined $100.

Opening a package of cigarettes, he cost himself $50 by not destroying the revenue stamp, and in addition became liable to ten days to six months in jail.

Then, Carren continued, suppose he picked up two or three detective thrillers. He's liable to arrest under a section of the Kentucky statutes which prescribes that "having in possession x x x any book or pamphlet principally made up of police reports or accounts of criminal deeds." The penalty may range from $50 to $1,000 or imprisonment from ten days to a year for each count.

A wager of a nickel cigar on the outcome of a prizefight is in violation of a Kentucky law and punishable by $100 fine.

Dr. J. F. Condon Will Continue Ocean Journey

"Jafsie" Will Not Be Requested to Return to
New Jersey

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 11.—(P)—Threatened action by Governor Harold C. Hoffman to halt Dr. John P. Condon's South American cruise to subject him to further questioning in the Lindbergh kidnap case all but collapsed tonight.

Attorney General David T. Wilentz, whom the governor said today he would ask to have Condon detained, said:

"I have been asked nothing about Dr. Condon and nothing will be done about Dr. Condon."

Shortly before this, the governor's press aide, William Conklin, commenting further on his earlier announcement that Wilentz would be asked to take action, said the governor "could" wait for Condon to return voluntarily. He said also that Hoffman had not investigated his ability to act independently if the attorney general refused to comply with the request.

These developments occurred as the New Jersey court of pardons met to hear Bruno Richard Hauptmann's plea for clemency—a plea that was denied tonight.

Condon, the famous "Jafsie" of the Lindbergh ransom negotiations, who identified Hauptmann as the man to whom he paid Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's $50,000 ransom in a Bronx cemetery, sailed from New York last night.

DEMOCRATS TO NAME MAN TO OPPOSE HORNER

Candidate Will Be Announced This Evening

By Harry L. Thomas,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(P)—Committees of downstate and Chicago Democrats wrestled tonight—to no decision—with the problem of choosing the organization candidate for governor in the April primaries.

Upon the shoulders of sixteen men—eight from Cook county and a similar number from downstate—rested the burden of picking a man for the head of the ticket to replace Gov. Henry Horner, who was regarded as definitely out of the picture so far as the party organization was concerned.

Throughout the afternoon a delegation of 21 from the Cook county central committee and a score of downstate leaders discussed the situation, then adjourned after naming the sub-committees and arranging for another session of the full group tomorrow night.

Though these committees were not scheduled to meet until tomorrow afternoon, the downstate men remained in session this evening.

Patrick Nash, chairman of the Cook county central committee and national committeeman from Illinois, said he expected the name of the Democratic choice for governor to come out of tomorrow night's session.

"The committees will consider all the possible choices," he said as he left the meeting this afternoon. "They are to get together tomorrow, make the decision as to whether the governor will come from Cook county or downstate, and bring the names of the most logical men to us. Then, probably, we will pick our slate."

True Bills are Returned Against Decatur Officials

State's Attorney, Mayor and Chief of Police Named
In Indictments

Decatur, Ill., Jan. 11.—(P)—True bills were returned by a special Mason county grand jury tonight against State's Attorney Arthur O. Frazier, Mayor Harry Barber and Chief of Police Jack Cooper after investigating charges of organized vice in the county.

Mayor Barber was named in four separate indictments, charging "failure to file a complete report of campaign contributions," "embezzlement of township funds" and "malfeasance in office as mayor in neglecting to do his duty in regard to gamblers and keepers of houses of ill fame."

State's Attorney Frazier was named in three indictments, charging "malfeasance, embezzlement, and accepting bribes to permit slot machines to be operated."

Chief Cooper, former president of the Decatur Kiwanis club, was named in only one true bill which charged "malfeasance in office in allowing gambling houses and houses of ill fame to continue in operation without proper prosecution."

The grand jury returned eight other indictments against tavern operators on charges of selling liquor to minors and permitting gambling in their taverns.

The grand jury's investigation was ordered by Circuit Judge C. Y. Miller after vice conditions in the county were charged in a series of articles printed in a Decatur (Herald and Review) newspaper.

PLACED UNDER BOND

Marion, Ill., Jan. 11.—(P)—Charles Farris, Johnston City tavern owner, was placed under $1,000 bond by County Judge E. N. Bowne today, pending a hearing January 20, on a peace bond sought by Harris W. Jones, Johnston City newspaper editor, who charged Farris assaulted him "because he didn't like a story I wrote about him."

Farris entered a plea of guilty to assault charges in the Johnston City police court yesterday.

Franchere Says Writer Brings New Philosophy

Discusses Sinclair Lewis at Meeting of Woman's Club Here

Professor Hort C. Franchere, of the English department, Illinois College, vividly portrayed Sinclair Lewis as a writer bringing a new philosophy into a changing world, in his address before the Jacksonville Woman's club, Saturday afternoon upon the topic "Sinclair Lewis, His Education of the Masses." A large audience, including many guests were present at the meeting, which was held at the D.A.R. Chapter House.

Mrs. M. S. Zachary, president of the society, welcomed the guests and expressed the appreciation of the club to Professor Franchere, presenting him as the speaker of the afternoon. Mr. Franchere spoke of Sinclair Lewis as an author, who has not spared any type in his books. "He looks at all sides, examines small town people, organizations and institutions in his usual critical even caustic manner."

"Critics," said Professor Franchere, "have been kind to him, and the American critic as well as the English, French and German reviewer have declared him a great artist. Sinclair Lewis made his characters live and is pronounced one of the most accurate of modern writers."

"He has been able to give the intimate side of American life. A foreigner would know the customs in American hotels, the food served on American tables, church socials and many other characteristics of American life from reading his books. Lewis has really touched the universal pulse."

Professor Franchere told of the life of Sinclair Lewis and emphasized its effect upon his philosophy. In closing his most interesting address, the speaker said, "Although Sinclair Lewis in his writings is rebellious, still behind it all is a lesson. If we try to understand, we can still learn from Sinclair Lewis."

The musical program, arranged by Miss Charlotte Sieber, was greatly enjoyed, given by Mrs. Carl Robinson. Her numbers included three vocal selections, accompanied by Mrs. Ralph Hutchinson, at the piano.

Following the program the members and guests remained for a social hour in the dining room with Mrs. H. L. Griswold and her assistant hostesses, Mrs. T. O. Hardesty and Miss Ellie Traube poured at the tea table, which was artistically arranged with silver and flowers. Others assisting Mrs. Griswold were Mrs. T. O. Burkthorpe and Miss Frances Griswold.

Committee chairmen were Mrs. Patricia Weir Brockhouse, Education committee; Miss Charlotte Sieber music committee; Mrs. H. L. Griswold chairman of hostesses.

IT'S NEWS WHEN JACK RABBIT CHASES DOG

Ogden, Utah, Jan. 11.—(P)—It isn't news when a dog chases a rabbit, when a bunny chases a dog.

R. J. Taylor and several other residents described the pursuit today.

"We were gossiping about the weather when we heard a barking on the road leading toward us from Salt Creek. Brindle bulldog was barking along the road and just two leaps behind was a jackrabbit, as big a fellow as I'd ever seen. He dog dodged around a parked car and the rabbit leaped from the road and headed for the Weber river timber."

POLITICIANS IN WASHINGTON TRY TO READ FUTURE

Awaiting Rulings By Supreme Court On
New Deal Acts

By Edward J. Duffy,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, Jan. 11.—(P)—The capital sought vainly tonight to read the political future in the turbulent reaction to the passing of AAA.

Their preliminary plans for the presidential campaign undermined by the Supreme Court decision five days ago, party leaders awaited further rulings to outline the battlefield more clearly.

Should predictions of wholesale invalidation of the New Deal materialize, it was generally agreed that dispute over amending the constitution to enlarge federal powers might rival the actual Democratic-Republican conflict.

Organized labor leaders, wanting restoration of NRA minimum wage-maximum hour principles, were exploring possibilities of getting farm organizations to ally with them for an amendment.

Sides already were being taken on that question irrespective of party lines.

The administration efforts to find immediate means for re-establishment of AAA policy was believed by capitol supporters to indicate an official move for amendment would be made only as a last resort.

President Roosevelt's attitude appeared to be:

"The record is being made. The objectives will be pursued."

If accomplishment of these under the constitution as construed by the Supreme Court is impossible, popular consideration of alternatives in the light of modern problems should be encouraged increasingly. Years, not months, will give the ultimate answer.

"We will not retreat," in his words. It will not rest there if Republican leaders have their way. Col. Frank Knox of Chicago and Representative Wadsworth of New York, both mentioned for the presidential nomination, insisted the AAA reversal raised an inescapable "constitutional issue."

Their challenge for the New Deal to meet it went unanswered at the White House.

Begin Recreation Program in City; Darr is Director

Propose to Provide Suitable Employment for Persons
Not Working

Work began the past week on the W. P. A.-Y. M. C. A. Recreation Program sponsored by the Department of Public Welfare for Morgan County with Fred E. Darr appointed as project director and with headquarters at the Y. M. C. A. building.

The program will be under the general supervision of the local Y. M. C. A. A. D. Hermann, general secretary, with a staff of employees provided through the co-operation of the Works Progress Administration.

The purpose of the project is to provide suitable and useful employment for unemployed persons in a community recreation program and to assist communities in laying the foundations for a permanent program of recreation through the use of their local resources, supplemented, temporarily by leadership available through the Works Progress Administration.

The plan includes the promotion of various activities, among them being handicraft groups, musical clubs, physical activities, recreation clubs, social activities, etc. As practically no funds are available, however, other than for wages provided by WPA the activities promoted will depend on such facilities as each community may provide in the way of room and equipment.

Any communities in the county that are interested are invited to communicate with Fred E. Darr, project director, or A. D. Hermann, general secretary, Y. M. C. A., Jacksonville, Illinois.

It listed $12,000 as actual and $600 as punitive damages. The young Charlotte real estate broker sought $250,000 and was given $125,000 by a jury in the first trial of the case several months ago only to have the verdict set aside by Judge W. F. Harding as excessive.

Seven-Point Program is Approved by Farm Leaders As Substitute For A.A.A.

By Jerry Greene
Washington, Jan. 11.—(P)—A seven-point program centered upon government-subsidized soil conservation was approved unanimously tonight by farm leaders called to counsel with the administration on a substitute for AAA.

Authoritative sources said a bill secretly drafted two days ago in New Deal quarters would be quickly revised to embody the legislative recommendations of the 100 spokesmen for the nation's major farm organizations.

In addition to soil conservation, the farm group called for retention of "valid" provisions of the adjustment act whose processing taxes and benefit payments were outlawed Monday by the supreme court. "Further expansion" of foreign markets for surplus crops; and new taxes on processors of livestock and dairy products.

PAY LAST RESPECTS TO JOHN GILBERT

Hollywood, Calif., Jan. 11.—(P)—Film colony friends of John Gilbert, handsome actor, paid their last respects to him at a little mortuary chapel in Beverly Hills today.

The time and place of the funeral services had been kept secret to avoid crowds. Only a scant hundred persons stood about outside as Marlene Dietrich, Gary Cooper, John Barrymore and others were admitted to the chapel by card.

The services were private in accord with Gilbert's own request. The Rev. Neal Dodd read only the Episcopal burial service.

Among the first to arrive were two former wives of the actor. With Leatrice Joy was Gilbert's daughter, Claire Joy, 12. Virginia Bruce came with her parents.

Miss Dietrich's face was white and drawn as she entered the chapel between Cedric Gibbons and his wife, Dolores Del Rio.

After the services, the body was taken to the Hollywood crematorium and reduced to ashes.

Five Suspects in Jail After Theft Of Fowls Near City

Truck Stalls in Mud and Officers Nab Five Men for Questioning

A truck mired in the mud on a lane just outside the northwest city limits gave the police and sheriffs force a hot chase yesterday morning after the theft of 24 chickens from the home of Miss Mae Spaulding, who resides on the Chapin hard road.

According to officers now investigating the case, four suspect left the stalled truck and went to get help. The resultant trouble in getting the truck out of the mud left a trail for the officers to follow.

Four negroes were taken into custody at the home of one, where two partly picked chickens were found under a table. They were locked up for questioning, which was in progress yesterday afternoon. Later a white man was lodged in jail.

There was considerable blood and chicken feathers in the truck suspected of having been the vehicle in which the thieves went to the Spaulding home. Heads of several chickens were found in the vicinity.

The poultry house at Miss Spaulding's home was entered at an early hour by breaking the padlock. Several times in the past 10 years thieves have raided this particular poultry house.

No warrants have been sworn out for the suspects, but they expect to make progress on the investigation.

One suspect held in the city jail is said to have made a confession of the theft implicating three companions. Two of the men are prisoners at the city jail. The other three, after being questioned by State's Attorney W. H. Absher, were taken to the county jail, and it is expected warrants will be sworn out Monday.

NARROW ESCAPE

Cleveland, Jan. 11.—(P)—Frank Maholic, 25, police officers said, attempted to stop an argument between a man and his wife who were visiting at his home. The man resented the intrusion, police reported, and brought out a gun, firing it at Maholic.

The bullet, however stuck in the end of the barrel. D. L. Cowles, ballistic expert, said corrosion in the barrel apparently caused the bullet to become lodged in the end of the gun with only the nose showing.

Maholic's assailant was arrested.

BOYS DROWNED

Indianapolis, Jan. 11.—(P)—Three small boys drowned today while playing on thin ice along a creek bank here. A fourth boy fell into the stream but reached the bank and ran to his home several blocks away to tell of the tragedy.

The boys drowned were John Buchanan, 11, and his 10-year-old brother, David; and Charles Prange, 10. Stephen Buchanan, a brother of the two Buchanan boys drowned, was the lad who scrambled to safety.

MAY USE BABY BONDS TO PAY SOLDIER BONUS

Measure Being Drawn Secretly By Senate Group

By D. Harold Oliver,
Associated Press Staff Writer.

Washington, Jan. 11.—(P)—Baby bonds for veterans, with premiums for those who do not cash them immediately, were reported tonight to lie at the heart of a bonus measure which had been drawn up secretly in the Senate for introduction Monday.

Drafting of the measure, representing a coalition compromise, was said to be virtually completed. Details were not disclosed. The cash payment bill overwhelmingly passed by the House yesterday did not specify a method of payment.

Authoritative word was, however, that it would be put forward as a compromise for the House bill and would bear the names of Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the finance committee, and Senators Byrnes (D-S.C.), Steiwer (R-Ore.) and Clark (D-Mo.).

"If that is so," observed Senator Borah (R-Ida.), "whatever bill they frame will be passed and become law."

Harrison in the past has opposed full cash payment in advance of the 1945 maturity value. Byrnes, Steiwer and Clark have taken various other stands.

All Harrison would say about the secret negotiations that have been progressing for days was that "progress" was being made and he would have a "statement ready sometime Monday before his finance committee met to take up the bonus. This was taken to mean he might have a new bill to introduce which he and other administration leaders hoped would be acceptable to the White House.

Meanwhile, one prominent senator, who did not care to have his name used, said if President Roosevelt exercised "political logic" he would veto the House bill backed by the chief veterans' organizations.

Senator Glass (D-Va.) told newspapermen he would stand by his position of last year in opposition to cash payment unless the money were taken from work relief funds. A similar stand has been taken by his colleague, Senator Byrd (D-Va.).

Prosecutors Seek Final Conference With Ann Hewitt

Attorney for Girl Says She Will not Sign Complaint Against Mother

San Francisco, Jan. 11.—(P)—Prosecutors today sought a final conference with counsel for Ann Cooper Hewitt before deciding whether to initiate criminal proceedings in the sterilization of the 21-year-old heiress.

Russell Tyler, attorney for the girl in a $500,000 damage suit against her mother and two physicians, promptly vetoed a district attorney's proposal that Miss Hewitt sign criminal complaints charging mayhem.

Tyler pointed out Miss Hewitt had not requested or assisted in the police investigation which followed filing of the suit and said it was "most unfair to suggest that she assume the duties and obligations of the police department."

Assistant District Attorney August Fournier said he wanted to confer with Tyler again before deciding whether his office would proceed alone.

At the conclusion of the police investigation Fournier offered to prosecute the mother, Mrs. Maryon Hewitt McCarther, and the physicians, Dr. T. L. Tilton and Dr. Samuel G. Boyd, with Miss Hewitt's cooperation.

The little heiress charges the mother duped her into submitting to the operation—on the pretense of undergoing an appendectomy—in an attempt to eventually gain control of a large trust fund left by Miss Hewitt's father, Peter Cooper Hewitt, noted inventor. Tyler estimated the estate at $100,000.

Mrs. McCarther contended her daughter was mentally and physically undeveloped and that the operation was performed "for Ann's sake and for society's sake."

Building Log Cabins

When WPA projects are formulated, the finer details of making them realities are often left to be settled later. Such was the case when $2,500 was appropriated for a log cabin in the park adjoining the Virginia reservoir. When it came time to start erection of the cabin, it was found there was no one who knew how to build it. These are not pioneer days, and log cabin construction has been sadly neglected for sometime.

But there was one man who did know how to build a cabin, and he said he had notched many a log in his day. That man is James Norris, Virginia, septuagenarian, and because he said he knew how to build a cabin, he got himself the job of supervising the work. He will show the younger pioneers how to notch logs and put them together in a replica of the sort of building our forefathers knew as home.

Hence when groups from Virginia and other places visit the park, they will find rustic surroundings and a log cabin in which to take shelter from the shower. Maybe James Norris will never again have to use his expert knowledge, but this time it has proved valuable. Whatever a man learns in his years of experience is never without some value.

Forgotten Servants

While the numerous costly New Deal agencies that spend billions are constantly in the limelight, the normal departments of government, with their thousands of useful employees have been forgotten. These departments are manned by skilled workers, without whose faithful attention to duty the many useful functions performed by government would run amuck, and the entire population would suffer inconvenience and injury.

One of the most important activities of the government is that performed by the G-Men in the Department of Justice. During the past year this branch of the federal service secured convictions of ninety per cent of the criminals it brought to justice. The department collected more than $39,600,000 in fines, but cost the taxpayer only $4,000,000.

The men who run down public enemies have to be lawyers, detectives, accountants, and must be familiar with many branches of knowledge that they may know how to collect evidence. They are not paid salaries commensurate with the service they render, and often the best are lured away from the public service by more lucrative offers of private employment. When this happens the people are the losers.

The G-Men stand like a wall between the law-abiding citizenry and the organized underworld. Before the Department of Justice started the widespread war on crime, this underworld was taking the country by storm. Today criminal forces are retreating all along the line.

When there are appropriations to be passed around, the taxpayer should see that his Congressman remembers the departments of government that render the most valuable service, and the G-Men should get sufficient funds to enable them to continue to give the whole people benefit of their skill.

War Loans Vs. Neutrality

The House of Morgan has issued a statement denying that this country went to war in 1917 to protect the allied loans which Morgan had floated in this country. The statement points out that so few persons were interested in allied loans that the loans could have had only a small influence on the sentiment of the country as a whole.

This, of course, is true enough, as far as it goes. What needs to be added is that these loans were the means by which we tied our fortunes to those of the allies long before we declared war.

We developed an enormous burst of prosperity, all of it due to allied buying. For that reason, we got ourselves into a position where genuine neutrality was impossible.

When the moment of decision arrived, our minds were made up—although we did not realize it at the time. This was the damage the loans did. They made it certain that we would take sides in spite of ourselves. That is why the country wants to see such loans flatly prohibited in the case of future wars.

By RODNEY DUTCHER

Washington—President Roosevelt is wiping a lot of the grin off his face.

The president is more than smart enough as a politician to know that when his celebrated smile, his charm, and such expressions as "my friends" begin to be burlesqued, it's bad political medicine.

In his new "fighting" campaign role, that sort of thing will be restrained and relatively rare.

The change was noticeable in Roosevelt's address to Congress. But perhaps even more significant was his demeanor in his annual "school-room" meeting with the correspondents—the occasion when he discusses the next fiscal year's budget in strictest confidence.

Last year, estimating a 1935-36 gross deficit of $4,529,000,000, he was no end jovial about it—gay, grinning, wisecracking, and almost hilarious at times.

This year—when the figures were far more favorable and he was even able to make some pretense of budget-balancing—it was the other way around. Here was a sober, more serious president—probably someone will soon be calling him "the new Roosevelt," a la Hoover press-agency.

Occasionally there was a half-smile—never one of the full old-fashioned variety for which he became so famous and which presumably is now to be reserved for special occasions.

Still Can Be Playful

There were two or three sallies of wit, as when he said he would sometimes call on Budget Director Daniel Bell, beside him to help explain the budget, because he reminded himself of the professor who told his class:

"I know very little about this, but you know less."

"No mortal, not even a member of the press, is permitted unfailingly to predict the future," he said as he read from his forthcoming budget message. Of course the stuff about the press wasn't in the message at all, but was stuck in just for fun.

This far none of those intimate with F. D. R. are taking credit for urging him not to be quite so gay. But not long ago certain persons were promising to see to it that he didn't miss a magazine article which commented adversely on some of his mannerisms.

Tugwell Sticks On

Although Dr. Tugwell will be used with restraint and caution as a New Deal campaign orator, Roosevelt has no thought of heeding demands of administration enemies—and some friends—that Tugwell be dropped overboard.

Tugwell recently offered his resignation, suggesting that he might be a political liability—as many people were saying. Roosevelt refused the resignation and told Tugwell he was more asset than liability.

Tugwell has received no rebuke or order to submit his speeches to the White House as a result of his Los Angeles speech, which called for a stand of farmers, workers, and progressives against "our financial and industrial autocrats."

For the very good reason that Roosevelt had approved the speech in advance—as hardly anyone knew—and that Tugwell has long been accustomed to discussing his speeches in advance with the president.

If you will read Tugwell's "radical" Los Angeles speech, with its four separate references to those "autocrats" you will perceive that it was very definitely a forerunner of Roosevelt's sensational night speech to Congress.

Smooth Work by F. R.

That's just another instance of the way Roosevelt has gone along with his friends and lieutenants without taking public responsibility for their utterances or acts. He has had Tugwell working the liberal side of the street while he has had Moley, Richberg, and Roper playing up to the conservatives.

While that may not seem altogether sweet and pretty to some, Roosevelt apparently has believed the New Deal should appeal to liberal conservatives.

The point made here is that you shouldn't let anyone kid you that Roosevelt doesn't know what prominent New Dealers are up to when they deliberately bust into the headlines.

Don Pearce's Body Will Arrive Here From East Today

Services For Victim Of Accident To Be Held Tuesday Afternoon

The remains of Donald F. Pearce, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Pearce of this city, began the journey back to his home from New York City yesterday for funeral services to be held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Grace Methodist church. The Rev. T. B. Lugs assisted by the Rev. F. A. Havighurst will be in charge of the services.

Pearce was fatally injured Friday afternoon when he was struck on the head by a descending elevator just as he was leaving the office of Swift & Company in New York for his lunch hour. The accident occurred on the fifth floor of the building at the New York stock yards, where Pearce was employed in the accounting department of the meat packing firm.

The body will arrive in East St. Louis this morning and will be brought to Jacksonville, probably arriving here about noon.

Burial will be in the White Hall cemetery Tuesday afternoon. Frank Dawdy, White Hall undertaker, will be in charge of the remains.

William Riley of the Ashland community was a business visitor in the city yesterday.

Mrs. Ella Chenoweth of Hersman, Ill., was a local shopper Saturday.

Coloratura Soprano Will Sing Concert For Local Patrons

Rosemarie Brancata Will Appear Under Auspices of Concert Group

Rosemarie Brancata, coloratura soprano will be presented Wednesday evening by the Jacksonville Community Concert association at 8:15 in the High school auditorium.

Overnight, fame came to twenty-two year old Rosemarie Brancata, and swept her up to a triumph such as made the young singer's debut with the Chicago Opera, the most talked-of event of the season.

So spectacular was her debut, that the Associated Press kept its wires busy that night of January 17th, 1934, sending to the four corners of the nation the news of how a little Italian-American girl, yesterday unknown, had taken the Chicago Opera public by storm.

The New York Times correspondent sent to his paper a detailed column of the remarkable scene he had witnessed that night.

In the role of Gilda in "Rigoletto", the public had found an adorable interpreter. The voice was one of unspooled freshness, that soared with freedom to the highest reaches of the human voice—a lyric voice, pure and true, that held the big audience spellbound. After the final altitudinous E of the famous "Caro Nome" aria, taken as Gilda leaves the stage, there was a minute's silence before the astonished public came to itself and broke into a frenzy of handclapping.

A lovely and timid Gilda came back again and again to bow to the storm of applause.

In this way success came to Rosemarie Brancata.

LOG CABIN BUILDING IS NOT A LOST ART

Man in Seventies Will Boss Job at Virginia

Virginia—The art of notching logs for a log cabin is familiar work to James Norris, aged Virginian, who will superintend construction of a log cabin at the park adjoining the waterworks at Virginia.

Included in the $10,000 park project awarded by the Works Progress administration was $2,300 for labor on a log cabin to be used by all civic organizations as a community center. But investigation showed that few people know how to build a log cabin.

James Norris, in his seventies, with long frosty beard, who has served as night watchman many years at Virginia and held other offices there, said he had built many log cabins in his day, and he demonstrated that he knew how to notch logs for the work. Accordingly he was recommended to supervise the work.

NOW PLAYING WHAT—WHEN—WHERE

FOX ILLINOIS—Today for three days, Claudette Colbert, Fred MacMurray and Robert Young in "THE BRIDE COMES HOME."

FOX MAJESTIC—Today and Monday, "BAR 20 RIDES AGAIN," with Wm. Boyd.

THE BRIDE COMES HOME—

Wonders of wonders! Robert Young is arguing with Claudette Colbert, when he's usually the lad who spends every waking moment trying to figure out new ways of pleasing her! And how come the usually hard-boiled Fred MacMurray seems so happy?

There are plenty of laughs in the new Paramount comedy romance, "THE BRIDE COMES HOME," which opens today at the FOX ILLINOIS THEATRE with Claudette Colbert and Fred MacMurray in starring roles, but it remained for Miss Colbert's French poodle to become chief comedian during the actual filming of the picture.

Smoky, the dog, is almost a permanent fixture around the studios, always accompanying his mistress to work. One day he arrived with a fresh shave. All his hair had been removed and he was a sight to see. For two entire days everyone on the set, from Miss Colbert down to the lowliest laborer, broke into laughter every time Smoky appeared. The laughter became so general that Miss Colbert said the ridicule would have to be stopped or she would find it necessary to take Smoky to a dog psychiatrist and have his inferiority complex treated. Passes today at Fox Illinois for Lloyd Clement, 810 South West street.

BAR 20 RIDES AGAIN—

Thundering along with the impetuous speed and power of an old-time buffalo stampede, the third of Paramount's "Hopalong Cassidy" series, titled, "BAR 20 RIDES AGAIN," which opens today at the FOX MAJESTIC THEATRE, contains every element that is needed to make a first class Western drama.

It is a better picture than either "Hopalong Cassidy" or "The Eagle's Brood," its two predecessors. It surpasses those eminently successful six-gun dramas not only because it is a better-rounded story, but for the reason that the action, so vital in a Western, is as fast-moving and realistic as it is possible for directors to achieve.

William Boyd, of course, is back as the slow-spoken but sharp-witted "Hopalong Cassidy." There can be no question that Boyd has established himself firmly in the front rank of cowboy stars. Judging from the gusto of the younger movie-goers, he has succeeded to the position once held by such men as Tom Mix and William S. Hart.

In "BAR 20 RIDES AGAIN" we find "Hopalong" at the ranch taming a wild horse when a message arrives from Jim Arnold, owner of the SV, asking for aid against a crafty and ruthless band of rustlers, headed by a man called "Nevada."

"Hopalong" and his young ridingmate, Johnny Nelson, take the situation in hand with Johnny more than casually interested because of Jim Arnold's attractive daughter. Before the boys of the "Bar 20" can act, however, "Nevada" and his gang strike at the Arnold ranch, wounding its owner.

Boyd and Jimmy Ellison again are hard-riding stars in this picture. Jean Rouverol plays the rancher's daughter with fine effect, and one of the finest characterizations in the film is that of Harry Worth, the villainous "Nevada." Passes today at Fox Majestic for Charles H. Baker, 825 South East street.

Bonus Measure Will Face Biggest Test In Committee Meeting

Senate Leaders Negotiating
For Measure President
Will Approve

Washington.—(AP)—Senate leaders were negotiating in strictest secrecy today in an effort to work out a substitute for the cash bonus bill that swept through the house yesterday. Their aim was a measure that President Roosevelt might sign.

Little hint of the trend of the negotiations came from the lips of those involved, but the promise of a statement Monday indicated that an agreement was not far off.

Chips in the game of give and take were the nine votes by which the Senate last year sustained President Roosevelt's veto of the Patman cash bonus bill. Administration leaders were using these votes to force some concessions in the flat cash payment bill which the house passed yesterday 356-59.

On the other hand, bonus leaders were trying to negotiate an arrangement which would win over enough of those senators to pass a bill over the president's veto, if his consent to something in the nature of a cash payment bill could not be obtained.

Chairman Harrison announced the senate finance committee would meet Monday to begin consideration of the bonus bill passed by the house. He said the measure will meet its most serious congressional hurdle.

The finance committee has always been more conservative than the senate itself, which in turn has been less friendly to the bonus than the house.

Last year the finance committee approved the Harrison compromise for partial payment of the bonus, but the senate rejected its recommendation and passed the Patman bill. Regardless of the outcome of the current negotiations, leaders expect the finance committee to report something short of full cash payment.

Labor Warfare is Feared in Capital

Sangamon Sheriff Swears in Deputies; Ten Men
Arrested

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Serious labor warfare was threatened today with the arrest of 10 striking coal haulers on charges of attempting to prevent delivery of coal in the city.

Sheriff Luke J. Gaulle swore in 34 special deputy sheriffs last night for patrol duty. He had added four deputies Monday, first day of the strike.

The union haulers are charged with overturning trucks and making threats in an attempt to help coal dealers obtain $1 a ton for hauling coal, instead of the operator's rate of 35 cents.

Synopsis of Scenes

Act 1—Home.
Act 2—The Forest.
Act 3—The Witch's House.

In the vast wealth of operatic literature, "Hansel and Gretel" stands forth as one of the most popular classics of the lyric stage. Based on an old German fairy tale, it makes an instant appeal by virtue of its simplicity and familiarity. The score is generally conceded by critics to be Humperdinck's masterpiece and delights the untrained listener as well as the musician.

The stage sets and costumes used in this production have been designed especially for this company by Paul Bachelor, one of the foremost scenic

Anything That Looks Like Unnecessary Roughness in Grid Game Must be Called

By William Weekes

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(P)—Anything that looks like unnecessary roughness will be called without fear or favor by football officials working games next season in the 14 states which play under the National Federation of High School Athletic Association code.

The football rules committee, seeking to eliminate all injury hazards from prep games, finished its two-day session today by tightening the sections covering unnecessary roughness.

The federation's code is used in Illinois, Alabama, Florida, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Minnesota, Oregon, Utah, North Dakota, South Dakota, Tennessee, Wisconsin and Colorado.

The interval between the first and second, and between the third and fourth periods was increased from one to two minutes. The intermission between halves was lengthened from 12 to 15 minutes, with a recommendation that the extra three minutes be devoted to warming up. Statistics read yesterday indicated that many injuries occurring at the start of the second half were due to lack of limbering up.

The committee ordered its editorial group to reword the section covering head and neck tackling so as to express its deep feeling against the offense. The hurdle rule was eliminated but jumping with feet or knees ahead of the rest of the body was incorporated in the unnecessary roughness section.

A proposal to establish a "safety zone" along the sidelines also was adopted. The zone, extending five yards behind each side-line, must be kept free, as far as possible, of benches, water buckets and rigid yard-markers to aid in protecting players falling out of bounds.

Joe Louis Meets Retzlaff Friday

By Charles Dunkley, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(P)—One devastating punch, delivered by a lantern jawed North Dakota farmer next Friday night, may cost professional boxing more than $1,000,000.

If Charley Retzlaff, strapping 200 pounder, rated as a 100 to 1 shot at best, hangs a knockout wallop on the chin of Joe Louis, when he meets him in the Chicago Stadium, boxing would suffer a blow far greater than the one Gene Tunney delivered when he beat Jack Dempsey in a return match and ended the golden era of million dollar gates for eight years.

The match is scheduled to go 15 rounds or less, probably less.

With prices of seats ranging from $2.40 to $7.50, the gate, if a sellout, with an attendance of 21,000, would reach $106,000.

Retzlaff, a deadly right hand hitter, victorious in 55 out of 68 fights by knockouts, is making a comeback which he believes will stop the amazing winning streak of the Brown Bomber. Since he was bowled over by King Levinsky with one punch in May, 1933, Retzlaff has lost only one fight and has knocked out Art Lasky, Al Ettore, and whipped Johnny Risko and Ford Smith, all topnotchers.

The big rawboned rancher declares he will face Louis without fear of the wallop that have laid 23 opponents on the canvas in 26 fights since the Detroit negro turned professional a year ago last July.

Retzlaff shrugged his broad shoulders. His face cracked into a smile. "Am I afraid of Louis?" he repeated the question. "Say, I'd fight a regiment for the chance I've got in this fight," he declared, and his teeth didn't chatter, either.

"I think that Louis' manager would be the one to be afraid," Retzlaff said. "They have everything to lose. Me? I got everything to gain. I'm going to make the biggest gamble of my life and throw at Louis everything I can from the very start. Louis has never been hit good and hard yet. He's had everything his own way. They've all been licked before they got into the ring. But they won't be able to say that about me."

Retzlaff, 28 years old, and the father of three children, has had a checkered career in boxing. He declares that his former manager, Jack Hurley, interfered with his style of boxing and that since he changed pilots he has developed a left hand and improved his form. Hurley, he said, always wanted him to leap out and flatten his opponent with his right hand the first punch.

Within the last year Retzlaff has changed his style, making him vastly more dangerous. He used to carry his right hand cocked near his chin, but now has dropped it lower, increasing his effectiveness as a body puncher. He also has developed a dropping left hook, which is used as a feeler and a range finder for his right.

For Louis, next Friday night's fight is just another battle. He expects to win within four rounds, and then speed up his campaign, culminating in battles with Max Schmeling and James J. Braddock, the champion, next summer.

Not less than five pounds will be the difference between Louis and Retzlaff. Louis expects to scale about 200 pounds, with Retzlaff 195 to 198.

Frank Reid of the Murrayville community was among those transacting business in the city yesterday.

and lost only one. They are in the thick of the fight for the Pike County Conference leadership. Just when they will be able to resume their schedule has not been determined. England had a lot of fun when his team beat "Mose" Pearce's Petersburg high team last week.

Pearl high's new gymnasium is a "bone" in the opinion of J. M. Hollowell, who whistled the first game in the new building Friday night. The floor is 82x48, in a building 70x90. The building has a patented arch roof, and there are seven rows of bleachers along one side of the gym for the spectators. Showers will be located under the bleachers, but have not been completed as yet.

Pearl had everything all set for a PWA gymnasium, but for some reason or other the project was tossed out. They tried to re-instate the project under WPA but there was a large material cost and a small man-hour demand, and again failed to get it set up on a government basis.

Undaunted by these set-backs, the board of education took the bull by the proverbial horns and built its own gymnasium just to spite the government. Smirl and Gibson of this city handled the actual construction.

Winchester's shorts pants derby will be the main attraction this week. Locally, interest will feature in a resumption of the Routt-I.S.D. war, and don't place your bets too quickly.

On the face of things, the game looks as if it would be a toss up when the local clubs get together. I. S. D. is stronger than last year, and Routt is coming right along. Both Baptist and Burns believe their squads are showing improvement over first of the season performances.

Alsey Cagers Will Play St. Louis Girls

Alsey, Jan. 11.—The St. Louis All-Stars, who claim the United States professional title for women, will come to Alsey, Tuesday night, Jan. 14, for a game with the Alsey Blackhaws. The team recently defeated a team of Roodhouse players, and lost by a single point margin in an overtime game at Jerseyville.

Members of the All-Stars are Lena Martin, Frieda Taylor, Helen Marsh, Isabelle Payne, Virginia McQueen, captain and manager, and Ann Benich.

The Blackhaws are composed of former high school players.

PEPPER MARTIN TO TEND TO KNITTING

St. Louis, Jan. 11.—(P)—Everything was hunky-dory in the St. Louis Cardinal stronghold tonight after Pepper Martin, slugging infielder, told the Redbird management he would pay more attention to baseball and less to his extra-curricular activities.

The incipient row over Martin's outside interests and rumors of a possible pay cut were stilled following a conference with general manager Branch Rickey.

Rickey said the chief cause of dissension was the third baseman's penchant for midget auto racing—and all minor conflicts had been ironed out by Martin's promise to concentrate on the Diamond industry.

"Baseball is a jealous mistress," Rickey explained, "and it does not permit a player to divide his energies. Pepper, however, has promised to abandon all interests except baseball during the season. He stands at least 125 per cent with the Cardinal management now."

Illinois Whips Wisconsin 29 to 27

Madison, Wis., Jan. 11.—(P)—Accuracy from the free throw line in the last five minutes of play provided Illinois with the margin for a 29 to 27 victory over Wisconsin in the latter's home debut of the Big Ten basketball season here tonight before a sellout crowd of 8,800.

Twelve times the lead changed hands and six times the count was tied. The Illini, who tied Wisconsin and Purdue for the title last season, scored nine free throws to the Badgers seven.

Illinois got off to an early lead but Mitchell, Demark and Fuller cut it down with spectacular field goals to knot the score at 13 at the intermission. The lead continued to change in the second half until the last five minutes when Combes, Vopicka, Riegel and Henry each caged a free throw for Illinois to two by Demark for Wisconsin.

Wisconsin had difficulty in coping with the Illini's speed, and Riegel's expertness on rebound shots. The big center took scoring honors with 11 points.

DIEGEL WITHDRAWS FROM TOURNAMENT

Los Angeles, Calif., Jan. 11.—(P)—Withdrawing from the Los Angeles open golf tournament, Leo Diegel of Philadelphia, veteran "professional," said today he would not play any more competitive golf for a year because of an injury to his right shoulder.

He hurt it a year ago in a friendly scuffle with Harry Cooper, Chicago professional.

Diegel shot an 83 in the tournament here yesterday. He did not play today. He will continue his duties as a club professional at Philadelphia.

Diegel finished in the money in three Los Angeles open tournaments to date.

EXHIBITION GAMES

St. Louis, Jan. 11.—(P)—Rogers Hornsby's St. Louis Browns will play 23 exhibition games this spring, including 11 with Major league opponents.

The team's plans, announced today, call for the pitchers and catchers to report at West Palm Beach, Fla., March 1, with the infielders and outfielders reaching camp a week later.

The House of David opens the exhibition schedule with games March 14 and 15 at West Palm Beach and the St. Louis Cardinals close it with the usual spring series, April 11 and 12.

Clarksons Observe Golden Wedding at Home in California

Former Local Couple Given Anniversary Honors by Los Angeles Friends

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Clarkson, who until eleven years ago were residents of this city, observed their golden wedding anniversary on Dec. 24 at their home, 1647 West 52nd street, Los Angeles, Cal. An account of the celebration has been received by their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Christison, 324 East Lafayette avenue. Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson were formerly active workers in Central Christian church, and are now members of the Figueroa Blvd. Christian church in Los Angeles. The pastor, Dr. J. Merle Applegate, officiated at the golden wedding ceremony, and sang a selection, "Memories."

On the appointed day twenty members of the family partook of a 3 o'clock dinner cooked by the bride of fifty years and served by her daughter, Miss Katie Vee Clarkson and her friend, Miss Margaret Biddle. The renewal of the marriage vows followed the feast. Music and readings also featured the program.

In the evening a hundred friends of the couple called to congratulate them. Each of the 129 visitors at the Clarkson home that day received a souvenir folder containing the first wedding picture and a photograph of the couple today.

On the previous evening at the close of the Bible school Christmas program, in which Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson had a part, the friends in the church presented them with a beautiful leather-bound anniversary booklet.

An original poem by Miss Katie Clarkson is found on the back of the souvenir anniversary folder, which is embossed in gold.

Upon Seeing My Great-Grandmother's House

By Helen Welshimer

THIS is your house, this proud and broken thing. Whose rooms are tenanted by wind and sun. Here is the place your kettle used to sing. And by this door, sometimes, with tasks half-done. You watched the men mend fences, reap and plow; You watched the corn grow taller with the day. This is the land you loved and even now You walk these rooms still gracious in decay.

YOUNG saplings that you planted have grown high And sturdy with the thunder of the years. The yellow rose you cherished did not die; Perennial as spring its bloom appears. Your honeysuckle, rich with fragrant yields. Is sweet again for humming bumblebees. New mating birds, low-flying on green fields. Nest and nest in branches of your trees.

BUT you are gone. You with your steady heart. That proved an old Book's promise on these plains. That early planting time would not depart. Or harvest leave, the while the earth remains. With simple dignity you did each task. Reared stalwart sons as well as woman could. Loyal, true, you were as any man could ask— God looked upon your work and called it good.

High School Grid Rules are Changed

Allow Substitutes to Give Information on Entering Game Next Year

Chicago—(AP)—The National Federation of High School Athletic Associations football rules committee went back to work today to make changes in the code calculated to further reduce injury hazards.

The report of the committee on injuries, read by W. A. Whitte of Appleton, Wis., showed that most of the serious mishaps on prep football fields occurred near the sidelines, usually from tackling the ball carriers out of bounds. A discretionary penalty of 15 yards for the offense has not been strictly enforced, largely because officials judged most cases to be unintentional.

It was indicated that the 15-yard assessment would be made mandatory at today's windup session of the two-day meeting. The report also showed that the majority of injuries came near the start of the second half of games, and the feeling was that 15 minutes between the periods instead of 12 would overcome that hazard. The assumption does not permit the youthful players to warm up properly and that an extra three minutes would provide ample time for limbering exercises.

After a lively discussion it was decided that a substitute may give information to his teammates as soon as he is sent into action, instead of waiting until one play has been run. The rule prohibiting subs from talking has not been enforced and the committee erased it and the accompanying 15-yard penalty.

Ray Freer of Greenfield was a Saturday afternoon caller in the city.

Ashland Plans Water Softening Addition

Request Now on File for Improvement; Other News of Interest

Ashland, Jan. 11.—A request is now on file in Washington, awaiting official approval, for an additional grant of between $3,000 and $4,000, for erecting a water softening plant in connection with the Ashland waterworks project. The contractors, Warren and Van Praag, have been advised by C. H. Bauer, of Chicago, state director for the administration, that they should proceed with the plans, so that there need be no further delay after official sanction is given in Washington. It is understood that the work will necessarily be delayed at least two months.

BROW-BEATING THE BASKET

Kentucky's entire starting lineup wouldn't be under the basket in a game, but southern teams have a way of getting the ball through the hoop without too many formalities and like to get the hang of it in practice. This picture of the Wildcats from an unusual angle was taken as they rehearsed for their engagement with New York University in Madison Square Garden. From left to right the players are Andy Anderson, Joe Hagan, Garland Lewis, R. Carlisle, and W. Donohue.

Hopeless Scrapper Gets Long Taxi Ride

Appears in Chicago Stadium for Two Rounds But Has Big Time

Chicago.—(P)When Arch Peevelev, a hopeless white hope of Williamston, W. Va., received an offer to appear in the heavyweight elimination tournament at the Chicago stadium, he was so tickled that he jumped into a taxi-cab and started right out for Chicago. The trip required 19 hours steady driving. The bill was $75.

Today Peevelev was bounding over the roads in the same cab, with a lump on his whiskers and $150 in his pockets. He was knocked out in two rounds by John Erjavec, the Duluth dynamiter.

Jim Mullen, matchmaker for the stadium, offered to pay Peevelev's transportation, but forgot to stipulate how he should travel. He also agreed to pay his hotel bill for one night, so Peevelev engaged a suite of rooms.

Meredosia, Jan. 11.—Several pourings of concrete have been made on the piers in the river the past couple of weeks. A pouring was made on pier 2 on the west side of the river Thursday. The sheet piling holding the water back has been removed, as the pier is well above the surface and needs only one more pouring to finish it.

Pier No. 3 on the east side of the river is almost up to the surface, and a pouring is to be made on it as soon as the west side is finished. While the river was frozen over the men could walk out to pier 3 on the ice as it was several inches thick and was strong enough to hold the men up without any danger of breaking through.

PERSIAN ART EXHIBIT OF RUGS, MINIATURES IS CREATING INTEREST

The Persian Miniature Paintings which are now at the Strawn Art Gallery, shown at the same time as the Oriental Rugs, are something so unique and different in character that they are creating much interest and delight in the visitors to the gallery.

Persia contributes to the world's art a type of painting which is unique and in its own kind supreme. "It yields a special kind of pleasure which no other Art gives" writes one Art critic well versed in Persian art.

Whether influenced by conditions of climate or no, Persian painting derives its peculiar beauty and splendor first from the fact that it admits no shadows to muddy the pure tones of color, and secondly, from its consummate use of the most brilliant colors, closely united in harmony, no other Art uses such a brilliant palette without being garish. The full, rich tones, unusual composition and intricate details of their designs in these miniatures makes this exhibit one of unforgettable interest and beauty.

Here's Howe, Chinese Lens Man!

One of Hollywood's topnotch photographers is at the same time the only Chinese cameraman in the film industry. He is James Wong Howe, shown above at work. Born in South China, Wong was flyweight boxing champion of the northwest before he decided to photograph faces instead of massaging them with leather. He owes the "break" that launched him on his career to Mary Miles Minter, onetime actress, who was pleased with a portrait he had made of her.

Conservation Man Called To Capital To Help Conferees

Hope to Work Out New AAA on Lines of Retiring Part of Farm Land

(Copyright, 1936, by the A.P.)

Washington—A hurry-call to a soil conservation "wizard" to speed across the continent and sit in at a big farm parley here gave a new hint today on what AAA's successor may be like.

It was learned that Howard R. Tolley, described by administration officials as the "foremost agricultural economist" in the United States, had been called from the west coast to attend the farm conference summoned by Secretary Wallace to discuss new plans in the light of AAA's death.

Tolley, now director of the Giannini Foundation in California, began last spring a regional planning and soil conservation study which was described as the most important in the history of the nation. Until last October he was assistant AAA administrator.

Though nothing is considered settled, word from the farmers' meeting indicated delegates were centering on a soil conservation plan to be implemented with cash from the government.

In the view of several farmers attending the session, soil conservation might result in control of production. For instance, they said, a farmer might retire a percentage of his land from commercial crops and plant it to soil-building legumes, receiving government money for so doing. The result, advocates say, would be controlled production of commercial crops and sustained prices for them.

Waukegan, Ill.—(P)—Otto R. Brandenberg, 48, contractor and wine importer, died today at nearby Pistakee Bay of bullet wounds which he suffered yesterday.

Stockholders of Elliott State Bank Hold Annual Meet

Frank Elliott Retires from Presidency; Johnson Is Named

The stockholders of the Elliott State bank held their annual meeting at this bank Saturday evening at which time the following were elected to the office of directors for the ensuing year: Frank Elliott, William S. Elliott, J. Weir Elliott, Frank R. Elliott, John L. Johnson, Charles A. Johnson, Walter Bellotti, Chester A. Hemphill and Francis R. Rantz.

Immediately following the stockholders' meeting, a meeting of the directors was held, at which time the following officers were elected:

Chairman of the board, Frank Elliott; Vice chairman of the board, James Weir Elliott.

President, Charles A. Johnson; Vice president, Chester A. Hemphill; Cashier, Francis R. Rantz; Assistant cashier, L. F. Jordan; Assistant cashier, J. Weir Elliott, Jr.; Assistant cashier, L. D. Meldrum; Auditor, J. Allerton Palmer.

This officer organization was agreed upon by the board of directors after consideration of the following letter from Frank Elliott:

January 11, 1936
"Board of Directors of Elliott State Bank, Jacksonville, Ill."

I regret that my present state of health makes it inadvisable for me to attempt to attend the annual meeting of your board to be held tonight for the election of officers; and I therefore write this letter to advise you of what I had intended to say if personally present.

I think the time has come when I should no longer be president of the bank and I do not wish to be re-elected. I have been active in the bank for over sixty years and have served as president for over forty. Considering this long service, my present age and my doctor's advice, I would like to be relieved of official responsibility for the active conduct of the business (which implies an obligation of regular attendance) and to feel free to be absent for extended periods in order that I may stay at home or travel. I also believe it is for the best interest of the bank and its stockholders that official responsibilities should be placed upon and assumed by those in active charge who are going to carry on in my absence.

Speaking as a director, I wish to say that any re-arrangement of the officer organization of the bank which is agreeable to the other directors will be entirely agreeable to me. This should not be a difficult task as I have great confidence in the high character and ability of the other officers of the bank and believe that their many years of service has earned for them the confidence of our community.

In conclusion let me say that I shall be available for conference with the officers and will be glad to attend meetings of the Board of Directors when in the city and committee meetings if desired.

Very sincerely yours,
Frank Elliott.

TO ISSUE WARRANT AT KIRKSVILLE FOR MAN HELD IN WEST

Kirkville, Mo., Jan. 11.—(P)—Sheriff Charles A. Novinger said tonight a felony warrant would be issued for Robert Montgomery, 26, arrested today at Los Angeles, if Montgomery is returned here.

Novinger said Montgomery was a brother-in-law of Homer Fanning, held here in connection with the investigation of robberies in Missouri, Iowa and Illinois. Also under arrest in the investigation are Alfred Schmidt and Dr. R. K. Blum, a Kansas City dentist and student here.

Novinger said he had been advised Montgomery would have extradition and return here willingly.

The sheriff said Fanning, Schmidt, Blum and Maxine Montgomery, estranged wife of Robert who was questioned here and released, had all declared Montgomery had no part in the robberies admitted by Fanning and Schmidt. However, Novinger said he had evidence another person had helped the two in some of the jobs they confessed.

Novinger said he believed Montgomery may be a key witness in the case because of asserted enmity among Fanning, Schmidt and Montgomery, who was estranged from Maxine.

Montgomery, the sheriff said, had not been in Kirkville for more than a month.

Prosecuting Attorney Nat. Reiser, the sheriff said, was expected to file formal charges Monday against Fanning, Schmidt and Blum.

American Legion To Aid Vets Asking Cash for "Bonus"

Arrange to Assist Ex-Servicemen Compile Data for Applications

The Jacksonville post of the American Legion, No. 279, with the cooperation of the Journal and Courier, is conducting an advance registration for all World War veterans desiring to obtain cash for their "bonus" certificates, as now contemplated by Congress. Anticipating some of the questions that will need to be answered, such as identification of the certificate, the manner in which the original loan, if any, was granted, etc.

The question of paid and unpaid interest will have to be considered in the payment of the certificates. It is possible that the new bill providing for payment of the certificates will provide for cancellation of interest due and the refund of interest already paid.

If a bank made the original loan, it will be important to know where the bank is located and the date of the loan together with the amount and rate of interest paid. If the certificate is lost or unlawfully held then steps must be taken to recover it or have a duplicate issued before payment can be made.

There are many things to be considered in making final application for these benefits, local Legion officials state, and the Jacksonville post is endeavoring to make arrangements to assist all veterans in compiling all information possible and needed before the actual day for filing for application for "bonus" payment. Failure to compile this information may result in considerable delay on the part of the veteran in obtaining his money.

The post will have a staff of stenographers, notaries and clerks to aid in the completion in making the applications, similar to the group of workers that aided the veterans in making their applications for compensation a few years ago. The blanks will be filled at the American Legion Home.

The Legion Home will be open through each day of the week, and assistance needed may be secured there. This service, which is to be given without charge, is offered to all World War veterans regardless whether or not they are members of the Legion, and is another example of the American Legion's desire to aid all veterans.

PLAN ALLOTMENT OF RELIEF FUNDS TO STATE'S COUNTIES

Chicago, Jan. 11.—(P)—Leo M. Lyons, executive secretary of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission, announced today a meeting of the commission would be held Monday to make tentative allotments of relief funds to the state's 102 counties.

He said approximately $2,500,000 would be allotted, but that it could be paid only if the legislature provided additional funds.

The IERC has only about $84,000 in its till to meet the relief needs of the last half of January. Lyons stated. Alternative measures now before the legislature propose an appropriation of $2,500,000, which would carry relief for Feb. 1 on the appropriation of $10,000,000 estimated to be enough to meet the IERC's worries for three and one-half months.

Estimated requirements for January, Lyons said, totaled $5,784,635. A total of $2,700,000 already has been distributed to the county units.

Lyons announced the "purge" of relief rolls to weed out persons eligible for Works Progress Administration jobs would begin Thursday and would be completed in a week.

A state-wide survey is to be made to determine what persons eligible have not been certified as such and what persons certified have failed to take jobs and why.
